

5-7, 10, and 19 from their respective parent claims discussed above. These rejections must therefore also fall.

The rejections of claims 12-14 under 35 U.S.C. §103(a) as being unpatentable over Allen et al. (U.S. Patent No. 4,705,205) are respectfully traversed. Par. 5 of the Office Action states that Allen discloses the instant claimed invention except for: a conductive polymer," but that Smith discloses a polymer terminal. However, Smith does not in fact disclose or even suggest a conductive polymer in an "elastically compressible" terminal having a "coil," as recited in independent claim 12. Thus the rejection of claim 12 is improper. Among other distinctions, dependent claims 13-14 incorporate all the recitations of parent claim 12.

Claim 17 was rejected under 35 U.S.C. §103(a) as being unpatentable over Allen et al. in view of Smith et al. Dependent claim 17 incorporates all the recitations of parent claim 12, and thus distinguishes Smith as discussed above. The Allen patent has absolutely no suggestion of a conductive polymer "injected" into any of his vias. Therefore this rejection of claim 17 is also respectfully traversed.

Conclusion
